The Fair Printing.

The Black-Mail again, as ever, justifies its now accepted name, by indulging in a three column tirade of abuse and maligning against the directors of the Hopkins County Fair Company, because, forsooth, it failed to secure the contract for printing the catalogues for the Fair Company, which job it thought it had nailed down so neatly. The Black-Mail handles the Fair as common property of the public at large and ignores the fact that it is owned by the Hopkins County Fair Company, composed of a number of the county's most public-spirited and liberal citizens, who have yet found it necessary to think of economy in their operations.

We regret that the Black-Mail is so intensely disappointed at the loss of this job but trust that its proprietors may not go hungry before something else shows up in which there will be a few meal's victuals.

While the attack on the directors of the Fair Company is absurd as it is vicious and there is nothing in the transaction that demands any sort of explanation on the part of the Fair Company, we will devote the necessary space to a plain statement of facts in order that the public may see how vicious the attack on the Fair Company directors, for transacting their own business upon the principles of economy in a businesslike way.

On Monday afternoon of last week President Holeman of the Fair Company stopped at THE BEE office on his way to Dawson to notify us that the catalogue was to let. Neither the writer nor his foreman were in the office at that time and the message was left with one of our compositors. The request was made that the bid be submitted the next morning (Tuesday). Our foreman figured on the job that evening with what information he had about the work and sent in the bid. The writer was in Nashville and knew nothing of the matter until Wednesday morning after his return. We went at once to Madisonville, and called on President Holeman, telling him that we had come to see about the Fair printing and saying that we had been absent and had no chance to pass upon the matter, and that if the bid submitted by our foreman was not the lowest or if the contract had not been awarded we asked that all bids be rejected and new bids called for.

Mr. Holeman said the Mail had bid one dollar under THE BEE but that the contract had not been awarded so far as his own actions were concerned. We then called on Mr. Osborn who said he had taken no action toward awarding the contract, and that the matter was in Mr. Holeman's hands. The writer had ridden to Madisonville with Mr. Jno. B. Atkinson, Director in Chief of the Fair Company, and after seeing President Holeman and Assistant Secretary Osborn we met Mr. A. D. Givens, our way to see Mr. C. C. Givens, another director, and asked him to go along. This he did. We found Mr. Givens and Mr. M. B.

Ray in Mr. Givens' office and the writer stated his request to these gentlemen as he had in the others before mentioned.

Here were five out of six directors of the Fair Company the writer had seen. The only remaining director, Mr. Robert Tapp, was out of town. Mr. Holeman was called in and the writer, of course, retired after petitioning the directors to consider the question of calling for new bids. At this meeting of directors of the Fair Company it was decided to reject all bids and that another meeting would be held on Friday morning at 10 o'clock, (this was Wednesday), for the purpose of receiving and passing upon new bids. The next day we wrote our bid sealed it and sent it in to be delivered Friday morning before the time of the meeting.

THE BEE's bid got the work and Black-Mail is mad.

The moral is that if you want the best of printing at the lowest of prices have your work done by THE BEE.

THE BEE editor, to his great regret, did not take in the annual jaunt of the Kentucky editors to Middlesboro, Knoxville and Chattanooga. He only had the pleasure of meeting a few of the boys at Nashville where the gang broke ranks for home after enjoying the great exposition for two days. But THE BEE being, a member of the Kentucky Press Association, desires to acknowledge the kindness extended to that body, so far as comes within our knowledge. Refreshments of various kinds were furnished the party by the following Louisville firms: Wm. Klein & Son, Hall & Hayward, Hyman Bickel Co., C. C. Bickel, Lawton Bros., and Frank Febr Brewing Co. Especial thanks are due Mr. J. H. Ringgold, first assistant to President Milton H. Smith of the L. & N. Railroad for untiring personal effort in behalf of the press. The special L. & N. train that bore the party of about 250 to Middlesboro was manned by F. B. Johnson, conductor; George Meikle, engineer; John Martin, fireman; W. W. Lyon, brakeman, and W. S. Clark, flagman. Thanks are due all these gentlemen. To the Southern Railway, the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway and the courteous officials of these roads the press returns sincere thanks also for very substantial favors that contributed greatly to the pleasure of the journey.

At Nashville the party was treated with that distinguishing kindness and hospitality for which the Exposition Management and the people of Nashville are fast becoming famous. It fell to the lot of Mr. Herman Justi, chief of the Bureau of Promotion and Publicity, and his worthy assistants, to see that the press boys had such a pleasant stay there that they each and every one went home an enthusiastic messenger to his people, telling them of the great things in store for all visitors to the Tennessee Centennial.

THE FINANCIAL CHRONICLE SAYS:
"The passing of the preferred dividend of the Big Four is a striking illustration of the trying conditions with which the railroad industry is having to contend. This company is one of the Vanderbilt-Morgan properties and Mr. Ingalls is the executive head of the enterprise."

If we remember correctly it was this same Mr. Ingalls, the executive head of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, who made a contract to supply the New York and New Haven railroad with a large amount of coal based on such cut freight rates that the other great railroad systems that carry coal to the seaboard, viz., the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore & Ohio, and the Norfolk & Western, were compelled to reduce coal freights, already ruinously low, probably 25 cents to 35 cents per ton, entailing on these companies the loss of many millions of dollars in the twelve months.

It looks to an outsider as if the "difficulties the railroads are struggling against" are largely due to the unbusinesslike methods of railroad managers themselves. To secure one big contract Mr. Ingalls forced his competitors in self defense to reduce freight that the mines on their lines could have an equal chance for other business with the Chesapeake & Ohio.

Between these four companies no more tons of coal will be carried than if the rate of freight had been sustained. We have no doubt but Mr. Ingalls asked the mine operators and miners on the Chesapeake and Ohio to reduce the price of coal, already being sold at cost prices, that he might get this cheap contract. The only benefit conferred was to the New York & New Haven owners, who receive coal at a price far below its actual cost. The damage done was to every security holder of the other railroads and to all mine owners and miners who produce coal to the seaboard.

The old ratio, which the free silver howlers said last year had been kept right around the 16 to 1 mark by divine influence since the world began, continues to go further and further from that talismanic mark. It was really 32 to 1 then yet they continued to claim a firm faith and fixed hope that the powers of heaven were laboring to induce and secure the old ratio. But judging from the utter failure of this falcon hope and the devilish raids upon the liberties and property rights of Kentucky citizens, that have naturally resulted from the incendiary teaching of the political demagogue and professional calamity howler, it must have been a power the opposite of divine upon which these leaders fixed their faith. Day by day the dark prophecies of these politicians for office only are proven untrue. The value of silver continues to decline and wheat and other farm products go up in price or hold their own. The prospects are good for crops generally, and the country is gradually approaching the prosperous times we look for. Speaking of the improvement in business Bradstreet's says: "Confidence is widespread in a revival of demand this fall." Dun's review of June 10th says:

"There is evidence of a gradually enlarging business in every important department. More establishments have been set at work and more hands employed. Reports from the various cities show a very general progress and a continuing large distribution through retail trade."

GEO. B. SMITH, printer, visited THE BEE office Monday. He says he was a partner with John Young in starting the publication of the Kentucky Republican in Madisonville in 1878. He spoke of the hard time the Republican had trying to live, and congratulated THE BEE on its present success and prosperity. Mr. Smith says he predicted away back in those old times that he would live to see Kentucky elect a Republican governor, and rejoices in the fulfillment of his prophecy. He remembers that George Matthews was a compositor in the office of the Republican and says he encouraged the publication of George's first attempt at writing—a short story. George Matthews is now Heber Matthews of the Hartford Herald. Smith had the misfortune to lose his right leg about two years ago, and now goes on crutches. This seems rather a coincidence since his old partner, John Young, also had but one leg.

The editor of THE BEE was "devil" in the office of the Kentucky Republican away back in those times, for a brief period, and is glad to have been identified with that paper, one of whose projectors has proven such a true prophet.

"Let me tell you, my countrymen, that resurrection will not be promoted by recrimination. The distress of the present will not be relieved by a distrust of the future. A patriot makes a better citizen than a pessimist. And we have got to be patient. Much as we want to move out of the old house, we cannot do it until the new house is finished. A tariff law halt made is of no practical use except to indicate that in a little while a whole tariff law will be done, and it is making progress. It is reaching the end, and when the end comes we will have business confidence and industrial activity. Let us keep steady heads and steady hearts. The country is not going backward, but forward. American energy has not been destroyed by the storms of the past. It will yet triumph through wise and beneficent legislation."—President McKinley at Philadelphia, June 2, 1897.

"TOM WATSON in a recent issue of his paper has this to say in denunciation of the semi-flat silver-dollar proposition: "We genuine Pops contend that fiatism which is good for 40 cents is good for 100 cents. If the principle of fiatism is sound it is sound all the way. It cannot be just sound enough to make up the 40 cents difference between silver and gold. If the Government stamp can make 40 cents out of nothing, it can make 100 cents out of the same material."

The recent emigration statistics are encouraging. The total number of immigrants that arrived in this country during the eleven months ending May 3, 1897, was 210,371. This is a decrease as compared with the same period last year of 105,038. The fewer the immigrants the smaller number of objectionable ones we are burdened with.

The few Democratic Presidents this country has had before the advent of Cleveland have all recommended the annexation of the Hawaiian islands. Yet, notwithstanding this old-time Democratic position on this question, the only opposition to the annexation proposition in the Senate now comes from Democrats.

The glad announcement comes from New England that the cotton mills, which have been accustomed under the Wilson law to close during the summer season will this year run steadily. This is but one of the many evidences of prosperity since the inauguration of the present administration and the promise of a protective-tariff law.

It is announced that Mr. T. J. Yandell, of Marion, will be appointed to the Owensboro collectorship, and that Mr. E. T. Franks will be first deputy, with an equal division of salaries. This is said to be satisfactory to Mr. Franks and is believed to be straight news.

THE Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad shops in Minneapolis which have been running on short time since November last began this week to run on full time. About 2,000 workmen are affected and the pay-roll will be increased from $20,000 to $40,000 monthly.

THOUSANDS of men employed in glass works will work for a longer time this summer than they have in any one of the last twenty years. It has been customary heretofore for many of these works to shut down in the summer. This year all will work full time.

This week will see the issue of the first number of a new Republican newspaper at Smithland. We do not know its name but we extend a warm welcome to this new Republican arrival in the Democratic wilderness of Western Kentucky.

ELSEWHERE we publish the announcement of a National Democratic mass meeting to be held in Madisonville Saturday, July 10, to select delegates to the State Convention on July 14 to nominate a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

LAST year's production of gold was considered phenomenal but the indications are that 1897 will break the record with a world's production of something like $250,000,000 in gold.

DON'T WANT PROSPERITY.
A man in Webster county, who is given credit for the honesty of his expressed sentiments, showed his extreme devotion to Bryanism and his strong desire for the fulfillment of the prophecies of the calamity howler, the other day in the following speech. He said: "By—! I wish the times would be so hard that they would make the chickens holler. I'll be— if I wouldn't rather live on slippery elm bark for the next four years than to see good times under the present administration!"

Miss Della Whiteside, of Blackford, visited Mrs. H. H. Brooks last week.

Messrs. C. C. Hardwick and Wiley Brooks went to Lisman last Monday?

Wood Allen, a young man eighteen years old, shot and killed Lit Nichols, his brother-in-law, in a difficulty at Lisman last Friday. Allen immediately went to Judge Baker, and surrendered himself up and was placed in jail at this place. His examining trial was set for today, but he waived the examination and will await the action of the grand jury.

Our efficient circuit court clerk and trustee of the Jury Fund, John G. Jenkins, is now prepared to pay off the jury deficits at December term 1895 and April term 1896 of the Webster circuit court.

The reason of this is because the last legislature passed a law permitting State claims to draw legal interest, and Mr. Jenkins was hereby enabled to have the State's warrants cashed, which he did on last Saturday. Had it not been for the bolding tactics of Jon Blackburn, Charlie Branton and Bill Goebel, together with Jack Chinn and his "big knife," their claims doubtless would have long since been paid as they should have been.

SHELTON.

"More rain more rest."

Mr. A. S. Riggs called in the vicinity Sunday eve.

Mr. A. M. Shelton went to Henderson Friday on business.

Mr. Frank Sigler has a new visitor at his house—it is a boy.

The farmers are having rain in abundance and grass and weeds in proportion.

Miss Mary Overby, who has been visiting at Nebo for several days returned home Tuesday.

If it doesn't stop raining pretty soon our faces will begin to look as long as the faces of the Popocrats did last fall when McKinley was elected.

Messrs. G. B. Shelton and D. T. Mulcholy contemplate going to the Centennial by land via the Mammoth Cave. I guess the boys will take one of Jim Murray's Greenline sleepers.

Mr. Marion Whitledge, while plowing this morning, was startled by the screams of his wife, which was caused by a mad dog chasing their twelve year old son through the pasture. Mr. Whitledge had a very vicious dog which his wife bided upon the rabid dog, and saved the boy. Mr. Whitledge secured his gun and followed the dog and killed it. He says it was the largest dog he ever saw. He then killed his own dog.

MADISONVILLE.

Mrs. Claude Ross gave a reception last Wednesday evening in honor of her guests.

Why Because

Do people buy Hood's Sarsaparilla in preference to any other,—in fact almost to the exclusion of all others?

They know from actual use that Hood's is the best, i. e., it cures when others fail. Hood's Sarsaparilla is still made under the personal supervision of the educated pharmacist who originated it.

The question of best is just as positively decided in favor of Hood's as the question of comparative sales.

Another thing: Every advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla is true, is honest.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Misses Gertrude Overall, Grace Hartman, Lissa Lyon, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and Miss Mary Hicks, of Henderson. It was an exceedingly enjoyable occasion, more than sixty guests and friends participating in the happy affair.

Miss Annie Pritchett is visiting in Lexington.

Miss Vida Adams is visiting friends in Pembroke.

Miss Emma Speed, of Evansville, is visiting Miss Rosalie Fieley.

Miss Lizzie Long, after a pleasant visit at Springfield and Nashville, has returned home.

The Misses Helen and Davis Hendricks leave this morning for a visit to friends and relatives in Indiana.

Mrs. Marshall Bragdon, nee Shackelford, of Muscogee, Indian Territory, is the guest of Mrs. W. S. Ross. Mrs. Bragdon is the daughter of Judge J. M. Shackelford.

HANSON.

Harry Brown is on the sick list.

Miss Hattie Goebel is visiting in Union county.

Rev. W. O. Rickard, of Crofton is in Hanson at this writing.

A little child of Robert Anderson is very low and not expected to live.

The meeting in progress here conducted by Rev. J. J. Smith is well attended, and it is hoped much good will result therefrom.

Prof. J. B. Ferguson has come back to Hanson to make this place his future home. We welcome him in our midst.

Mrs. Mollie Slaton, of near Morganfield, who has been visiting relatives here, returned home a few days since.

Mrs. J. J. Smith and daughter, Miss Mary, who have been attending the meeting here, returned to their home in Slaughter's Monday.

Weir Bros. have just completed and moved into their new store just opposite their old stand. This is one of the prettiest and most conveniently arranged store houses in this part of the country.

Mrs. Ellen Crowley started for her home in Bisbee, Arizona Tuesday. Mrs. Thad Ridd accompanied Mrs. Crowley to Kentucky some weeks since, and will remain here until fall, when she, too, will return to her Western home.

The contract has been let for the erection of a new public school building at this place, and it seems that things are moving rather slow. The board should push matters as the time is very short for work of this kind before time for school to open.

OFF TO THE WARS.

The Boys of Company E Have an Unusual Call to Glasgow.

Company E, Third Regiment Kentucky State Guards of Madisonville, received a telegram from Col. T. J. Smith Tuesday evening, ordering them to be in readiness to move on two hours notice Wednesday.

A letter followed which disclosed where the boys were wanted and for what purpose. Yesterday afternoon, thirty of the Company under command of James Burchfield, Walter Powers First Lieutenant, and Paul P. Price, Second Lieutenant, passed through Earlington in a special car on train Number 51, enroute to Bowling Green and Glasgow to guard and escort from Bowling Green to Glasgow, Tol Stone, the negro whose attempt to detain and assault a young woman school teacher caused such excitement in Earlington county a short time ago. Stone is to be taken back for trial and unless strongly guarded it is thought he will be lynched. The indictment against Stone is "detaining a woman against her will," and as death cannot be legally inflicted as a penalty for this offense, it is believed that the sentiment is strong for lynching him unless firmly prevented.

Acting Governor Worthington is taking every precaution against a lynching and the boys of Company E are expected to do their part with courage.

Free Trip.

You can go to the Tennessee Centennial free if you will—and take your sister, brother, wife, children. Read THE BEE's great offer of a free trip to this magnificent Exposition.

One of Toad Long's children was severely bitten yesterday morning by Clay Woodridge's dog at the home of Mr. Woodridge. The boy went to Mr. Woodridge's house and was attacked by the dog and bitten in the leg two or three times.

A rumor was afloat yesterday afternoon to the effect that Charlie Robinson had been appointed postmaster at this place, but it proved to be a joke put up on Ed Scruggs—and there is still a place to fill.

THE BEE has just received a fine assortment of cards and other stationery and can furnish anything in the printing line on short notice in best style and at lowest prices.

The State Teachers' Association met Tuesday at Bowling Green.
